

Patron Code of Conduct

Steamboat Campus Library, Colorado Mountain College

The Steamboat Campus Library of Colorado Mountain College expects you, as a patron, to:

- Respect each other as this space belongs to all of us.
- Behave in a way that does not interfere with the operations of the Library or the College.

The following are prohibited in the Library:

- Talking on your cell phone in the Library or computer labs.
 - There are plenty of places on campus where you can use your cell phone including the library balcony although you must still respect others when doing so on the balcony.
- Harassment of any kind whether physical, sexual or otherwise.
- Using abusive or threatening language.
- Weapons.
- Using any recreational vehicles (skateboards, bicycles etc...) inside the library.
- Behaving in a manner disruptive to the library such as:
 - Yelling, fighting, using an audible device without headphones, viewing images that interfere with other's personal space or their enjoyment of the library, participating in overly engaged displays of affection and any other inappropriate behavior.
- Intoxication or being under the influence of alcohol, marijuana or illegal drugs.
- Posing a health or sanitary risk.
- Smoking of any kind and through any device i.e. e-cigarettes, vaporizers, etc.
- Frequent and/or excessive personal calls on the Library telephone.
 - Calls to the Help Desk, short and infrequent school-related calls, and any emergency situation are examples of acceptable uses of the phone. Patron use of the Library phone is approved upon discretion of the Library staff.

Violations of these policies can result in anything from being asked to leave the library at that particular time to a permanent ban from the library premises.

The Library staff reserves the right to enforce any and all of these policies.
